

2019 Erden Prälat Riesling Auslese

The Mönchhof estate is mentioned first as belonging of the Cistercian abbey of Himmerod in the Eifel in 1177. After the Secularisation under Napoleon the family Eymael bought the estate on an auction in Paris in 1804 from the French state.

Mosel - 100% Erden Prälat Riesling

The Erden Prälat is the smallest grand cru vineyard at the Mosel with around 1.5 hectares of steep slopes. The label with the monk is reserved only for wines from this vineyard. The wine shows opulent fruits with herbal and smoky tastes on the palate. It has a huge body and a long echo on the tongue with vibrant acidity accompanying the sweetness. This wine will last for a couple of decades. Just a stunning wine.

Hand-picked, healthy and ripe grapes from the Erden Prälat are the foundation of this wine. The soil charges the sun heat during the day-time and passes it to the vine during the cooler night-time. The grapes are directly pressed after the arrival at the estate. We usually pick the Prälat grapes last during the harvest.

Serve this wine chilled at 8° Celsius as partner for every kind of desert.
